

Chair of Moral Values – Film Series: Films for Thought
Fall 2005

Over the course of the year, a series of motion pictures related to the themes addressed in the Chair of Moral Values activities will be shown on campus. Whenever possible, the films will be introduced by someone with some expertise on the subject involved and we hope that they will spur further discussion of these topics. All films are open to the entire campus community and all are encouraged to attend.

Wednesday, October 5 @ 7 PM, Madsen Center 202 Dances With Wolves
Introduction by Prof. William Swart

Monday, October 17 @ 7 PM in Madsen Center 202
“Did Peter Jackson Convey J.R.R. Tolkien’s Moral Vision: “ A Conversation with Matthew Dickerson.

Matthew Dickerson is a professor in the Computer Science Department at Middlebury College where he also teaches English and Creative Writing. He is the author of several books including an historical novel based on a figure in Beowulf and Following Gandalf: Epic Battles and Moral Victory in the Lord of the Rings.

Thursday, November 17 @ 7 PM in Madsen Center 202 Atanarjuat (Silent Runner)
With an introductory discussion of depictions of Inuit culture in film by Professor David O’Hara

Interim and Spring 2006

Monday, January 16 at 7:30 PM in GSC 100 (Alumni Auditorium) Hotel Rwanda