What other type of financial aid may be available?

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loans are generally available to cover the educational costs for the M.Ed. / M.Ed. in Special Education programs. The Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan has interest accruing from the time the funds are disbursed, and is available during any term in which the student is enrolled at least half-time (5 credits or more). This loan is not based on financial need, but interested students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to determine eligibility.

What if I need loan assistance during a period of time when I am enrolled less than half-time?

You may borrow extra funds during a period in which you are enrolled half-time and save those funds for use in an upcoming term. Because loan funds can be awarded for living expenses as well as tuition, fees and books, some students borrow the amount allowed for living expenses and use it for upcoming tuition expenses during a period when they are enrolled less than half-time and therefore do not qualify for federal loans. The amount available in federal loans should be sufficient to meet your needs. Loan information is available at www.augie.edu/finaid/loans.

How do I apply for a Federal Direct Loan?

You must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at studentaid.gov/fafsa during each year of your program.

The Federal Direct Loan maximum for graduate students $20,500 per year. Because your costs will be substantially less than the federal maximum we encourage you to borrow only what you need, taking into account upcoming terms during which you may not have eligibility due to being less than half-time. Also keep in mind that a loan origination fee of approximately 1% will be withheld from the loan proceeds.

What is the interest rate on the Federal Direct Loan?

The interest rate is based on the U.S. Treasury Bill rates and is set each year on July 1. Current rates can be found here.

When do I start repayment of the loan?

Payments are not required during any period of enrollment in which you are registered for five credits or more (halftime). There is also a six month grace period following the date your enrollment status drops below half-time, so you should expect to begin repayment within six months. Once you have already used your grace period, your loan can be deferred while enrolled half-time, but repayment will begin within 30 days of the end of the in-school deferment period. The maximum repayment term is ten years. Please keep in mind if there is a term that you register for less than 5 credits and you have previous federal loans your loans will go into grace or repayment status.

When will I receive my financial aid notification?

Once you are registered for the term, and have a current FAFSA (studentaid.gov/fafsa) on file, a financial aid notice will be sent to your Augustana email address. You will be required to accept the Financial Aid Offer on your student portal (my.augie.edu) in order for your loan to be processed. Although the maximum loan amount will be awarded, you can decline any or all of the amount.

Will I need to sign a promissory note for the loan?

When and how will the loan be disbursed?

The Federal Direct Loan will be disbursed at the beginning of each term, for the amount you have indicated on your financial aid acceptance. The funds are electronically posted to your Augustana student account. If you have borrowed more than the amount needed to cover tuition for the current term, the excess will be refunded to your bank account within 14 days of loan disbursement.
