Russ and Carol Greenfield honored the memory of their son with an endowed scholarship.

The power of Giving Back

Twenty-five years ago, Russ and Carol Greenfield's lives changed forever after their son, Tom, a pre-med student at the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, was killed.

To honor his memory, Russ (class of '57 and a former member of the Augustana Board of Trustees) and Carol (class of '61) established the Thomas Russell Greenfield Memorial Scholarship at Augustana, an endowed scholarship designed to provide financial support to undergraduate students majoring in the natural sciences who plan to pursue careers or advanced degrees in medicine.

Last fall at Augustana's scholarship recognition program and dinner, the Greenfields had a chance to meet biology major Wadie Mahauad-Fernandez '12, the 2011-12 Thomas Russell Greenfield Memorial Scholarship recipient.

"This is a great gift – it helps me so much," Mahauad-Fernandez said. Following graduation, the Ecuador native began his Ph.D. studies at the University of Iowa. He hopes to one day work in microbiology research.

For the Greenfields, meeting Mahauad-Fernandez and learning about his goals to work in medical research was a special opportunity.

"We wanted this scholarship to go to biology majors because our son was pre-med," Carol said. "It's a way of keeping his spirit alive."

Mahauad-Fernandez is one of many Augustana students who are recipients of the College's more than 500 endowed and annual scholarships, financial gifts awarded to students based on, primarily, academic merit and financial need.

The annual scholarship program is chance for donors and the students and families their gifts impact, to meet and get to know one another.

"For many of our donors, giving a scholarship gift to an Augustana student is a way of "paying it forward" – a way to return the thoughtfulness and generosity they received through endowed and annual scholarships during their time as students. For the students who receive these scholarships, the Scholarship Recognition Program gives them an opportunity to offer their thanks and appreciation for the generosity bestowed upon them," said President Rob Oliver. "Our students often tell us how much it helps to know that people are cheering them on as they push through tough courses in pursuit of their degree. To our donors who invest their personal spirit and financial resources in our students, we offer our deepest and most sincere gratitude."

IN FOCUS: Academic Affairs

At Augustana, we are constantly reviewing our educational programs to ensure that we are providing the most powerful learning experiences we can to prepare our students to bring about a better tomorrow.

The new science facilities planning process is providing an excellent opportunity for us to make our educational program even better as we design new spaces to support teaching, faculty-student research and other innovative programs in the natural and health sciences.

Another major initiative that is engaging faculty, staff and students

from across the campus is a complete review of the General Education Plan, the framework for the broad liberal arts education that provides a foundation for specialized study in our 52 majors. In addition to reshaping many of the disciplinary and interdisciplinary "areas" from which our students select courses, faculty, student services staff, and students are working together to design an integrated first-year experience that pulls together knowledge from multiple disciplines while connecting new students with peer and adult mentors who will help them successfully navigate the college experience.

The growing number of international students who choose to study at Augustana and the increasing involvement of our North American students in study abroad experiences also provide us with great opportunities to think about how we integrate global perspectives throughout the whole curriculum.

In addition, a growing and dynamic local community is providing more and more opportunities for internships and other community-based learning that we are exploring and developing. There is so much to build on at Augustana and so much still to be done. The faculty, staff, and students are living our mission as we explore, discover and create together.

IN FOCUS: Enrollment

The College continues to attract the brightest students in the region who, in addition to their academic ability, possess a wide array of talents. They come to us ready to explore their many interests, discover what they are called to do, and create an experience that will leave them with great memories for a lifetime.

Prospective and current students have high expectations of their college experience: academic quality, GPA, facilities, opportunities for involvement – especially in the performing and visual arts, athletics, student leadership and the social scene. They desire a high return for a low investment. Graduate school and job placement, four-year graduation rates, and scholarships are top of mind.

When it comes to

NANCY DAVIDSON

Vice President

financial aid, “Is there anything else?” is a common question. The economy has made students and parents increasingly concerned about loan indebtedness and understandably so. The federal financial aid formula has many shaking their heads, including our financial aid administrators.

Anyone who believes that colleges are increasing costs to capitalize on federal aid dollars is incorrect. Federal aid is not keeping pace with increasing tuition, making it very difficult to meet the demonstrated financial need of families. Some colleges are taking bold steps by freezing tuition and, in extreme cases, lowering it. The challenge for the College is to maintain and enhance academic quality with reduced net tuition revenue.

Demographics are not in Augustana’s favor. Fewer high school graduates reside within a 150 mile radius. Many colleges have turned to international students as a way to boost enrollment and increase diversity. Augustana, too, has increased its investment in international recruiting and so far the returns have been significant with students from 42 countries enrolled this fall.

The announcement of the Sanford Challenge Gift comes at a critical point in our history. With approximately 40 percent of our students choosing majors within the natural sciences division, it is essential that we provide our students and professors with the excellent facilities that they expect and deserve. It is also essential to our future enrollment. Currently, 54 percent of our applicant pool has expressed interest in majors within the division.

While we have many challenges before us, we have much to celebrate. I am amazed and impressed every day with what our students and professors achieve. Augustana remains an excellent investment that produces spectacular returns.

IN FOCUS: Finances & Facilities

For fiscal year 2011-2012, Augustana finished with a balanced budget. Sixty percent of our $42 million in revenue is generated through net tuition, while direct auxiliary revenues (room and board) account for another 20 percent of revenue. Eleven percent is gift and endowment income raised from alumni, friends, the church and other organizations that value the College's academic mission and is used to provide scholarships to students, supplement salaries and for other academic and student life experiences. The remaining 9 percent of revenue is from grants and other revenue.

Augustana is a "people enterprise" and personnel costs account for 66 percent of our expenses while direct auxiliary expenses account for another 15 percent. The remaining costs consist of academic programming, student activities, extra-curricular activities, utilities, insurance and other expenses.

Our endowment performance for the fiscal year (12 months ending July 31, 2012) was down approximately one percent. The investment markets and portfolio value for the fiscal year saw the first half turn downward and recover over the last six months. For the last 12 months, domestic equities performed the best, while international equities and commodities showed negative returns.

TOM MEYER
Vice President for Finance and Administration

In addition to gifts that help fund our annual operation, the College also received support to build and maintain our facilities which enabled us to purchase specialized equipment that serves our campus community.

Specifically:

We completed room renovations in Bergsaker

ker Hall and installed new fire suppression and alarm systems. Our Stavig Hall update is similar to the Granskou renovation from 2011, wherein we removed the original built-in desks and closets, painted, carpeted and installed new modular furniture (desk, dresser, wardrobe closets and bed frames) in every room with new paint and carpet in the hallways.

The Commons Drive was widened and the Humanities lot was repaved. We also repaired a significant number of our footpaths located near Bergsaker and Solberg.

At the newly-named Karras Park, home of the Ronken Baseball Field, we installed lights, a new FieldTurf infield, and built new dugouts. A new grandstand and pressbox are near completion.

In the Madsen Center, we remodeled some laboratories and conference rooms to enhance flexibility and functionality.

We re-carpeted Kresge Recital Hall and restored and repaired pianos in the Humanities Building.

We refurbished the swimming pool in the El-men Center.

In the Gilbert Science Center, we completed some work in the Nursing offices and added new carpet in various study areas. The Pendulum Lounge area also received new carpet and ceiling tiles.

The lower roofs of Tuve Hall were replaced.

Inside Edith Mortenson Center, we performed routine maintenance and installed carpet in the first floor hallways.

We installed new sidewalks and historical markers at Heritage Park.

We also installed new lighting fixtures throughout the northeast part of campus.

Providing a rich academic and student life experience that prepares students for lives of leadership and service, managing our revenue and expense budgets, addressing deferred maintenance and growing our endowment through wise investments are our priorities. We are determined to be good stewards of the investments our alumni and friends make in helping Augustana achieve its important academic mission.

Paying it Forward

A portion of the $570,000 gift from alumni Jim and Myrna Wylie will be used to help build the new $30 million science facility.

In December, Augustana announced that alumni Jim and Myrna Wylie made a gift of more than $570,000 to the College, a portion of which will be used to support the new science center project.

Augustana officials have been working to raise funds for the new facility, to be named in honor of long-time Augustana biology professor Dr. Sven Froiland, following a $20 million challenge gift from Sanford Health earlier this fall.

"We are humbled and honored by Jim and Myrna's generosity, which will do so much to help build this new facility. Their gift today will live on for generations through countless students who will explore and discover important scientific endeavors and research ways to create an even better world tomorrow," said President Rob Oliver. "Our cup runneth over, indeed."

Jim, Augustana class of 1955 and a native of Sioux Falls, double majored in history and Christianity/philosophy as a student. On campus, he led the effort to create the first-ever Viking Varieties, the student talent show, and helped bring national speakers for the Viking Days worship service.

After graduating, he went on to Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minn. He later served at parishes in Albert Lea, Minn., Chicago and New York before joining the management team of Lutheran General Hospital (now known as Advocate Healthcare), the largest healthcare system in metro Chicago.

Myrna, class of 1957, majored in nursing and spent her career working primarily as an operating room nurse.

They are both now retired and live near Chicago. They have three children and five grandchildren.

They were inspired to make the gift, they said, because the College still holds a special place in their hearts.

"Augie is where we got our start," Jim said. "It's where we wanted to make our commitment. It's an amazing sense that comes over you when you have the opportunity to give back to the source of your own educational beginnings. It's where we got our preparation for life."

The couple donated family farmland in Clay County,

S.D., to the College. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of the land, which recently sold at auction, will be used for the science project while another portion will be used to fund a gift annuity, which will ultimately fund the science project when the annuity matures.

The opportunity to help with the science project is especially meaningful, Jim said, because the couple both spent their careers working in healthcare.

"Since we spent 50 years in that sector, we developed an interest. And, as we started to think about it from our faith commitment, it just made sense," Jim said.

"And, as always happens, the giver becomes the beneficiary as well. We're pleased to be a part of it."

IN FOCUS: Advancement

This report celebrates the generosity of alumni and friends who included the College in their charitable giving during our 2011-2012 fiscal year. It reflects gifts given to a variety of important initiatives that sustains our campus; supports our students through scholarships; enables professors to deliver an exceptional academic experience; provides the resources for a vibrant co-curricular program and strengthens the College's long-term future through endowment.

Every gift is valued and participation at every level is appreciated. Whether large or small, each gift joins with the gifts of others. It is the aggregate of all gifts that has the greatest impact. When foundations and corporations consider grant applications, they frequently ask us about the percentage of participation in giving from Augustana alumni, parents, and friends. It strengthens our case when those closest to the College support it. We also know that alumni support our annual giving opportunities because they continue to value their education. It's a chance to cast a vote of confidence in their Augustana experience.

The Augustana Fund is the heart of our annual giving program. Gifts given are applied to student scholarships, the support of our academic program and to ongoing operations of the College.

Friends of the Performing and Visual Arts support Augustana's performing artists, including the cost of touring, instruments, supplies and equipment. Augustana's music performances, theatre productions and gallery exhibitions have always been a source of pride for the College and continue to be central to the experience of a quality liberal arts education.

Membership in the Library Associates supports the expansion of library holdings and services, supports scholarly activities and enables the College to maintain its excellent academic program through providing the resources every student needs. The Mikkelsen Library is recognized as the best academic resource in the community of Sioux Falls.

The Center for Western Studies, annual hosts to the nationally recognized Boe Forum on Public Affairs, preserves and interprets the history and cultures of the Northern Plains. Membership provides the on-going support for the operation of the Center. Because of a successful match of the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Center's endowment has reached $7 million and recently was chosen to be the repository for the Blue Cloud Abbey-American Indian Culture Research Center (AICRC) collection.

The Augustana Athletic Club supports Viking athletics through scholarship support and operational expenses. More than 800 individual members and 52 corporate sponsors support nearly 375 students who wear the navy and gold. National recognition for academic and athletic success has brought honor to the College's goal to achieve success in classrooms and labs and on the field of competition.

At Augustana, we are blessed by the many alumni and friends who offer their support and gifts year after year.

Dr. Cari Skogberg Eastman, class of 1996, is one example. An author and researcher whose work on immigration and border patrol issues has been published nationwide, Cari has supported the College with annual gifts every year since graduating.

During a recent visit to campus, Cari told us, "It's a gift to be part of the Augustana community."

To Cari and all those who have invested in the College, our students and our mission, thank you for your support.
